

Announcing the Launch of Uinta Investment Partners, LLC

May 2017

Uinta Investment Partners, LLC is a multi-family office founded by Gavin James and Don Plotsky, two career fixed-income professionals who believe that there are great opportunities today to invest for income and total return.

“We believe that today’s best opportunities are in the private markets. These markets are difficult to access for most high net worth investors and smaller family offices. We intend to provide like minded investors with unique access, complete transparency and significant support and communication”, said Mr. James.

Mr. James and Mr. Plotsky are both former executives of Western Asset Management, based in Pasadena, CA. Mr. James is also the former CEO of WMC, a publicly traded REIT. The founders will seed each fund and will be offering side-by-side investment opportunities.

The partners have seeded two funds, one focusing on litigation finance and the other on value add, multi-family real estate projects. In the coming weeks there will be announcements of key strategic partnerships that will expand Uinta’s scope, reach and access.

Uinta’s focus is on preserving wealth, producing attractive income and creating long-term value through clearly defined and repeatable value add strategies backed by real assets and/or clearly identifiable and accessible cash flows.

Uinta partners with firms and people that have a demonstrated history of creating meaningful value for their investors. “We bring these partners capital, experience and a long-term commitment that enables them to do what they do better. Each firm that we partner with demonstrates a cogent, repeatable process for creating value in their respective area of focus”, according to Mr. Plotsky.
